From the Desk of the CEO

Rod Burkett

I'm old enough now to have my oldest grandson starting college in mid-August. This brings to mind the old adage of wishing to be as knowledgeable as you are now, but desiring to transport yourself back to those college age years. No matter how appealing that sounds, I don't think any of us would really want to have such an experience.

Whether you are 8 years old, or 18, or 80, we always want to hang with our friends and interact with our peers. While there's benefits for all in mixing in intergenerational gatherings, we seem to have a natural desire to engage with our own age cohort, and to learn and grow with people that are representative of our specific age group. People of similar ages seem to have a wealth of like experiences that serves as a foundation for further discussion and deeper connections.

I'll let his parents give him the traditional "be smart-careful-safe" lecture that we all seem to receive when we leave the nest, while I'll take a shot at sharing some sage grandfatherly advice (assuming I have some). Such as, "Yes, follow your parent's advice and study hard, but there's just as much to learn outside the classroom as in. Be wide-open to learning and appreciating both the similarities and differences that you witness in people and their different backgrounds and personalities. As long as you are in a learning and growing mindset, your mistakes will be smaller and easier to recover from....and be ready next weekend, your old "Pa" will swing by to take you to a baseball game, and you can share what you're experiencing....and maybe I'll learn something from you!"

Healthy Aging and Fall Prevention

September is Healthy Aging Month. The week of Sept. 22 through 28 is Fall Prevention Awareness Week.

Healthy Aging

The purpose of Health Aging Month is to raise awareness of the positive aspects of growing older.

Tips for healthy aging include staying physically and mentally active and socially engaged. Maintaining a healthy diet. Getting a good night's sleep. Not smoking. Engaging in activities you enjoy. Seeing your doctor regularly. And surrounding yourself with people who make you laugh.

Fall Prevention

Falls are not a normal part of growing older. The national Fall Prevention Awareness campaign is designed to increase awareness about the impact of falling and to let you know about precautions you can take to reduce your risk. Tips for fall prevention include . . .

Staying physically active. Regular exercise improves muscles, makes you stronger, helps keep you flexible, and may slow bone loss.

Have your balance, eyes and ears checked. Even small changes to your vision and hearing may increase the likelihood that you will fall.

Wear non-skid, rubber-soled, low-heeled shoes.

Fall-proof your home. Keep the areas where you walk free from clutter. Don't use small area rugs or throw rugs.

Get up slowly out of a chair or a bed.

Be sure you are getting enough calcium and Vitamin D.

Limit the amount of alcohol you drink.

Learn about the potential side effects of any medications you are taking. Tell your doctor or the staff at the community where you live if a drug makes you feel sleepy or dizzy.

Use an assistive device if you need help feeling steady when you walk. Make sure the device is properly adjusted for your height.

Safe Room Temperatures for Seniors

Deborah Denham RN, MSN, CPPS, CPHRM

Visiting my grandparents in the summer was a lot of fun. But, if you were to ask me or my sisters what they remember about Grandma and Grandpa's house is that it was so hot. It never felt like the air conditioner was running and in the winter, you felt like you would melt.

This rule was more than likely present in your home growing up or when raising your family, no one touches the thermostat. It was the rule in my grandparent's house, my parent's house and now, much to the frustration of my son, it is the rule in my house.

But what is too warm in a home?

For the elderly, maintaining the right indoor temperatures isn't only a matter of comfort, but also a matter of health. During the summer months, seniors can be at an increased risk for heatstroke. During the winter, the risks are just as severe.

According to research in the journal Age and Aging, it only takes 45 minutes for a chilly room temperature to have a significant impact on the elderly. It's enough time for strength to decrease in most major muscle groups. That includes the quadriceps, which are necessary for standing and walking.

With reduced strength, there is an increased risk of suffering a fall.

When it comes to ambient room temperature, different people have different comfort zones. That's because a variety of factors can impact how warm a person feels. People who do not maintain their weight have a tougher time staying warm.

Apart from the room temperature, there are a variety of things which can affect a person's sense of warmth. Poor hydration, anemia, insufficient sleep, and vitamin deficiencies in B-12 or iron can all contribute to feeling cold. Feeling chilly can also be a side effect of several medications.

The ideal room temperature for seniors varies slightly because it can be impacted by a person's health. However, the average room temperature for elderly people is about 78°F.

This may be uncomfortable for some and adjusting the thermostat to keep the home at a comfortable and safe temperature is important. Just be careful to not go above 78°F or below 65°F.

Recipe Corner

Peach Strawberry Popsicle

- 3 c. or 1.5 c. pureed strawberries
- 3 c. or 1.5 c. pureed peaches
- 2 Tbs. Honey
- 2/3 c. yogurt

Directions

1. Wash all the fresh produce
2. Slice the strawberries and skim and slice the peaches
3. Puree the fruit together in a food processor or blender. Add in the honey and yogurt and mix until smooth.
4. Pour mix into molds. You can use an ice cube tray or a popsicle tray. Put your sticks in and freeze overnight.
5. Pop out the popsicles when needed, and enjoy!

A Note from the Administrator

Peggy Morgan

September is here and so is the unofficial end of summer. It's still warm enough to enjoy without freezing, but not unbearably hot and humid. September is the only month in which you can enjoy both summer and fall. The leaves start to turn yellow, orange, and red, but they stay on the trees. You can enjoy the colors without having to rake them up! We celebrate Labor Day this month. Labor Day pays tribute to the contributions and achievements of American workers and is traditionally observed on the first Monday in September. It is the perfect time to slow down and appreciate the world around us.

We are turning the corner here from Summer into Fall. I am so excited because the colors of Fall are my favorite! We will have bus trips to watch the colors change. I have found a new entertainer that I am excited to share with you all. His name is David Keagle. He dances, sings, tells jokes and does a few impersonations. This month we will have a few new things in the calendar including, Ask the Administrator and Menu Council just to name a few. Make sure you read your calendars so you don't miss out on any fun !!

David Keagle 9/9 2pm Gazebo
