From the Desk of the CEO

Rod Burkett

I keep thinking my next column will not reference anything about the COVID pandemic, but maybe next month, as I believe I finally have some positive news to share regarding our journey to put the impact of this corona-virus in our rear view mirror. In addition to seeing a significant decline in February of the spread of the omicron variant, I want to share the following data that was provided on a recent conference call coordinated by the American Health Care Association/ National Center for Assisted Living, the largest long term care trade association in our country.

- A 65-year-old fully vaccinated woman who contracts COVID has a 1 in 872 chance of passing from the disease. A 65-year-old vaccinated man has a 1 in 434 chance.
- A 75-year-old fully vaccinated woman who contracts COVID has a 1 in 264 chance of passing, and a 75-year-old vaccinated man has a 1 in 134 chance.
- In the 2019 flu season, a 65-year-old had a 1 in 138 chance to die if they contracted the flu.
- Considering these measurements, for the 65+ fully vaccinated population, COVID can be seen as a lower risk than the seasonal flu.

Not only is this data another significant testimony to the high efficacy of the COVID vaccines, but it can also serve as a roadmap to the lifting of pandemic related restrictions and assist in our society's return to normalcy. As this information is further analyzed by medical scientists and governmental officials, it will hopefully illustrate that as long as the senior population and medically high-risk population maintain high levels of vaccination, and as long as no variant evolves outside of the efficacy of the vaccine, then the severe lockdowns witnessed in 2020 will never be needed again. Let's all pray and put 'good vibes' into the universe that such a scenario truly happens!

All About March

Rick Banas

Harvard University, the oldest institution of higher learning in the United States, is named after the Rev. John Harvard on March 13, 1639.

On March 23, 1775, Patrick Henry proclaimed “Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death” during a speech in Richmond, Virginia.

On March 3, 1855, the U.S. Congress saw fit to authorize $30,000 to study the use of camels for military purposes.

On March 1, 1872, Yellowstone became the first national park in the United States. Located mostly in Wyoming, the park sits atop a volcanic hot spot. Gushing geysers and hot springs are among the park’s features.

On March 10, 1880, the Salvation Army was founded in the United States. Annually, the Salvation Army assists about 30 million Americans.

What is commonly referred to as the “Spanish” flu reached the United States on March 11, 1918 as 107 soldiers at Fort Riley in Kansas became sick. An estimated one-quarter of the U.S. population became ill from the virus, which claimed the lives of 500,000 in our country and more than 22 million worldwide. Because no vaccines or medicines were available to treat the flu, efforts to control the virus were limited to isolation, quarantine, good personal hygiene, use of disinfectants, limitations on public gatherings, and wearing of masks. In Chicago and many other cities in the United States, movie houses, theatres and night schools were closed.

On March 3, 1931, the Star Spangled Banner became our National Anthem.

In March 1950, Silly Putty is introduced to the general public.

On March 1, 1961, President John F. Kennedy established the Peace Corp., an organization intended to send young adults from the U.S. to developing countries to assist with health care, education, and other basic human needs.

On March 8, 1983, President Ronald Reagan called out the USSR as the “Evil Empire.”

The week of March 6 through 12, 2022 is designated as Glaucoma Awareness Week. Glaucoma is the leading cause of preventable blindness, especially among adults 60 years of age and older. Many forms of glaucoma have no warning signs. You might not notice anything until the disease is at advanced stage. The good news is that glaucoma can be detected with regular eye exam, and prompt diagnosis and treatment can prevent needless impairment to your vision.

Making Every Bite Count

Did you know that March is designated as National Nutrition Month by the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics? This campaign aims to equip others with the education needed to make informed food choices while promoting the development of healthy eating and physical activity habits. The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics is committed to sharing knowledge regarding the importance of healthy eating for all ages. An easy way to enhance healthy eating is to ensure that you are intentionally selecting foods from all of the food groups including: vegetables, fruits, grains, dairy and protein. It is important that you consult your healthcare provider and/or a registered dietitian nutritionist if you have any special dietary needs; these healthcare professionals can assist you with developing a customized eating plan individualized for you. The Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics recommends the following tips to maximize the formation of healthy habits:

1. Make half your plate fruits and vegetables.
2. Make at least half your grains whole.
3. Switch to fat-free or low-fat milk, yogurt, and cheese.
4. Limit sodium, saturated fat and added sugar.
5. Stay well-hydrated.
6. Enjoy your food but be mindful of portion sizes.

To learn more about healthy eating, you can visit www.eatright.org for additional helpful information. Other great resources, including education on identifying your food group targets through the MyPlate Program, can be found at the United States Department of Agriculture website at www.myplate.gov.

Please note that this information is not intended to replace the need for every person to have a one on one conversation with a qualified healthcare professional prior to making significant changes to a nutritional plan.

Recipe Corner

Microwave Cinnamon Apples

- 1 ea. Granny Smith Apple
- 1 tsp. Brown Sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon Cinnamon
- 1/4 tsp. Corn Starch
- 1 Tbs. Water

Directions

1. Peel the apple and core it. Medium dice the apple and place it in a microwave safe bowl and sprinkle with brown sugar, cinnamon, cornstarch, and water
2. Stir the ingredients together.
3. Cover the microwavable bowl with plastic wrap and microwave for 2 minutes.
4. Check the apples for desired doneness with a fork. If you like your apples firm, 2 minutes is fine. But, if you like them tender, put them back in for another 2 minutes and then test the apples again. You can garnish with raisins and serve warm.

Greetings, family and friends!

We are so excited to announce that we are beginning to roll out our new iN2L™ program! iN2L is an innovative touch screen computer system designed to create fun and meaningful experiences for your loved ones in our care. iN2L is programmed for activities, games, therapy, reminiscing, music, virtual travel, 1:1 interaction, staff education, and so much more. There's even an area on iN2L to create a personal profile, or My Page, for your loved one to save their favorite activities, personal photos, contacts, and videos under one easy-to-use button. We can't wait to get started!

One of our favorite features of the iN2L system is that it provides an opportunity for our residents to experience and stay connected with the world around them, particularly with their family and friends. We look forward to being able to get everyone acquainted with the Family Portal, and best of all, video calls! Using iN2L's senior-friendly video call feature, your loved one can visit with family and friends with a press of a button, whether they're across the country or even just down the hall. With the Family Portal, families and friends can upload videos and photos remotely from home, and the resident in our community can view them whenever they want on their My Page.

Here's where you come in—there are so many opportunities to impact your loved one through iN2L in a meaningful way. If you're interested in adding pictures or videos to their My Page or setting up a video call to stay connected remotely, let us know!

With your continued support, we know that this addition to our community is going to be a great success! Make sure to stop by and experience iN2L firsthand during your next visit. We truly believe that It's Never 2 Late to have a little bit of fun with technology!

Sincerely,

Maria Diver RSC
