Congratulations Rod on your transition from CEO to Board Chairman!

From the Desk of the CEO Rod Burkett

Twenty-four years ago, I cofounded Gardant Management Solutions with a former business colleague, Blair Minton. Our goal was to increase accessibility and affordability in the assisted living sector, and we had a fairly simple, straightforward business plan. As we discussed the formation of the company, Blair stated that he would find the investors and make it 'big', and my role was to develop the management platform and make it 'work'. After decades of investing blood, sweat and tears into this mission, as of April 1, I will be transitioning from CEO to Board Chairman and turning over the reins of day to day management to my successor.

My successor is actually a Co-Presidency scenario in which our current Chief Operating Officer, Julie Simpkins, and current Chief Financial Officer, Greg Echols, are collaborating together in shifting up into this new shared position. I envision that this action will provide our company and our hundreds of employees with continuity and forward momentum, along with a new energy they will bring to this movement.

We have grown to be the 10th largest management company nationally in the assisted living industry, while serving rural, suburban, and urban communities. While we have realized both successes and challenges over the years, there are a few recent events that have illustrated how far we have come from our humble beginnings. As of 2022, over 85% of the 60 communities in our portfolio have been designated as Bronze or Silver Award winners in the national prestigious Malcolm Baldrige Quality Awards Program. In addition, over a third of our assisted living sector to be included in US News and Word Report's national survey, and just last month our portfolio was designated as "A Great Place To Work" by the international organization, A Great Place To Work Institute.

I have a great comfort level and confidence in Julie and Greg stepping up to further lead the company in their new positions, and I look forward to my continued engagement with them as Chairman. I have long cherished a quote by the former Starbucks CEO, Howard Schultz, that I think sums it up nicely: "When you're surrounded by people who share a passionate commitment around a common purpose, anything is possible!" I have witnessed for many years Julie and Greg's passion and commitment to our mission and to the thousands of lives that our collective work has positively impacted. I want to express my sincere thanks to them and the thousands of other teammates over the years who have brought our mission to life on a daily basis.

PEACE!

IN THE NEWS

ABOUT THE MONTH OF APRIL

Rick Banas

Rodgers and Hammerstein debuted their hit musical "South Pacific" on Broadway on April 7, 1949.

"Rock Around the Clock" by Bill Haley and the Comets was released on April 12, 1954.

April Showers May Bring May Flowers, but the rain in April 1927 proved to be way too much. More than 700,000 individuals -1% of the population of the United States - were displaced because of flooding along the Mississippi River. In some areas, flooding was more than 80 miles wide, and the flooding did not recede until August and September.

On April 9, 1959, NASA announced the names of the first U.S. astronauts. Scott Carpenter, L. Gordon Cooper, Jr.; John Glenn Jr.; Virgil "Gus" Grissom; Alan Shepard Jr.; Donald Slayton; and Walter Schirra Jr. were all military test pilots. Shepard was the first to be successfully launched into space on a suborbital flight, and Glenn was the first to orbit the earth.

The Ford Motor Co. unveiled the Ford Mustang in April 1964. A 22-year-old teacher lays claim to buying the first Mustang from the dealership on Cicero Ave. in Chicago. She says she paid $3,400 for the Skylight Blue Mustang convertible.

April is Humor Month. More giggles are just what the doctor ordered, says the Mayo Clinic. Laughter provides us with many short-term and long-term benefits. It enhances your intake of oxygen; induces physical changes in your body that benefits your heart, muscles, and lungs; reduces stress; soothes tension; improves your immune system; relieves pains; and stimulates circulation. Laughter is great medicine.

April also is Medicaid Awareness Month. Medicaid programs are returning to pre-COVID practices. One area of importance is the move from continuous coverage back to yearly redetermination requirements. All Medicaid recipients are encouraged to watch for notices and complete Redeterminations on a timely basis timely to ensure continued coverage. Residents should contact their community's Business Office manager if they have any questions.

WELLNESS

Self Care

Deborah Denham RN, MSN, CPPS, CPHRM

Part of a self-care routine is about physical wellbeing. There are things you can do to help your overall physical and mental health. Let's talk about some of those.

Sleep better. There are many tips on how to get better sleep and rest. Make a sleep routine. Go to bed at about the same time, dim the lights to a safe level, quiet down the TV or radio.

Eat mindfully. This would include paying attention to what you eat. I see many people that would care less to have a vegetable on their plate, but it is the first thing they eat and almost always the food group that is finished. The body knows what it wants. Pay attention to how it makes you feel. This goes along with the old joke, "Doctor, it hurts when I do this!" "(Doctor) Then don't do that!"

Create and enforce boundaries. This is a hard one. Many of us do not want to hurt anyone's feelings. This is about what makes you comfortable with others and allowing your feelings and time to matter to you.

Disconnect. If you are looking at electronics often or for long periods, turn them off and look up. Do things that do not include screens.

Organize inside and out. Science has affirmed that having a cluttered, unorganized environment can increase depression, anxiety and affect overall mental health.

Do something you love. If you like to dance and have fun, do it. Do something that makes you smile and laugh. Joy begets joy.

What you put out into your universe is what you get back. Good thoughts and activities will bring good spirits and increased health.
